

Blog from the Boundary, 1st XI v Warwick Uni 1st Aug 09

Quick report this one. With rain all around we tried our best to get the game on.

Warwick pitched up after a fair drive and batted 1st. A healthy 219 for 8 after the 40 over's with 80 odd coming in the last 10, another mind numbing 30 extras given away.

Craig took his usual quota of 4. Ish stepped up from the stiffs and took a couple but went 60 odd on 8 over's.

Our innings started but after only a couple of over's the rain started to fall, I guess we would have played on but they didn't fancy it and called it a day.

That's all folks

D

Blog from the Boundary, 1st XI v Syresham 8th Aug 09

Knowing that Syresham 1st xl didn't have a game this week we guessed they would pick from their superstar's, we were right. Before the game it looked like all their players tipped up and selection took place then, sounds a bit cut throat to me.

We batted first and from the off we didn't really get going. Lee went in the first over for a blob, and it was fairly turgid stuff against the tight bowling of the brothers Archer.

Only three double figures in our innings, Jase made a neat 39, Rob P 11 and Mr Extra 16, that was about it. 103 all out in 35 miserable over's, hold on while I shut the window from my penthouse, I might use it in a minute.

Knowing a win was probably out of reach we looked to take as many bowling bonus points as we could. That amounted to a poxy 1. They knocked them off with the loss of 3 wickets in the 25th over.

With Middleton Cheney on a roll and Wroxton winning it means we need at least a couple of wins to make promotion safe.

Dot's play of the game-	none
Dot's other play of the game-	none
Dot's did you know? -	I am now on 24 hour surveillance by the social for my own welfare. .

Dot